

HLA Secure Fund (HLASF)

April 2021

Fund Features

1. Investment Objective

To provide investors with steady and consistent return over a long-term investment horizon by investing into local and global fixed income securities and equities.

2. Investment Strategy & Approach

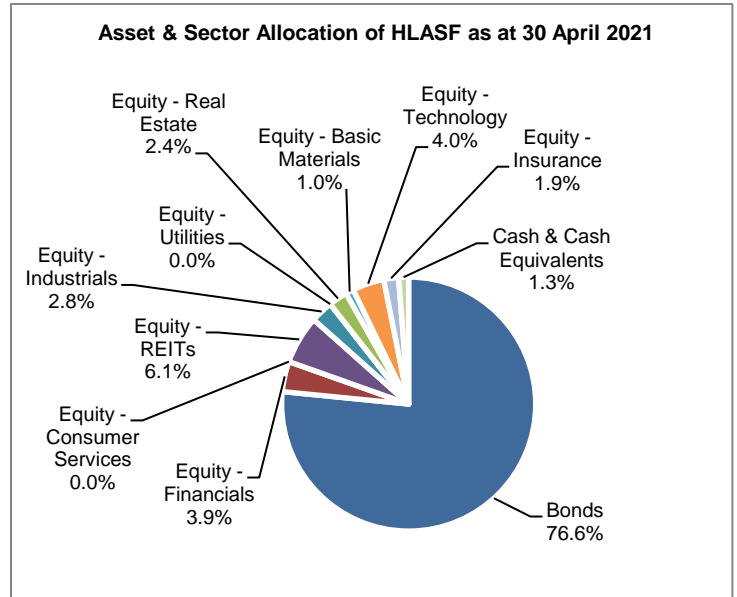

The strategy is to provide investors an affordable access into a diversified investment portfolio with a mixture of equities and fixed income instrument. The fund will invest primarily in fixed income instruments such as bonds, money market instruments, repo and deposits with financial institutions that provide regular income as well as in high dividend yield stocks to enhance the fund's returns. The asset allocation decision between fixed income instruments and equity is decided after considering the fixed income and equity market outlook over the medium to long-term horizon. Initially the fund will invest by feeding into Affin Hwang Select Income Fund ("Target Fund"), with the option to increase the number of funds or replace Affin Hwang Select Income Fund with other fund(s) in future.

3. Asset Allocation

The fund shall invest a minimum 70% of the NAV in Fixed Income Instruments and maximum 30% of NAV in equities.

4. Target Market

The fund is suitable for investors who are relatively conservative and wish to have a steady and stable return that meets their retirement needs.

Market Review, Outlook & Strategy relevant to Target Fund

Global equities treaded higher in April amidst a slew of data dump and earnings results rolling in. The S&P 500 closed 5.2% higher, while the Nasdaq index rose 5.5% as technology stocks reported stellar earnings as the economy revs up post-COVID-19. In Asia, the broader MSCI Asia ex-Japan index closed 2.4% higher in April. The MSCI China index edged just 1.2% higher amid concerns on tighter antitrust regulation and weaker than expected China factory data. Improvements were seen in US' GDP reading for 1Q2021, though it was slightly below consensus levels at 6.4% versus 6.5%. Markets saw yields react upwards largely due to increased consumer demand which saw an annualised increase of 10.6%, its second highest pace in over 30 years.

China's factory activity expanded at a slower pace and missed forecasts in April as supply bottlenecks and rising input costs weighed on production. The official manufacturing Purchasing Manager's Index ("PMI") fell to 51.1 in April from 51.9 in March. The 50-point mark separates growth from contraction. Beijing also launched an antitrust investigation into food delivery giant Meituan which is the second high-profile target after Alibaba as regulators clampdown on the country's sprawling internet platform economy. The State Administration for Market Regulation ("SAMR") said in a statement that its investigation was focused on the practice whereby a company forces vendors to use their platform exclusively, known as "choose 1 from 2".

On monetary policy, the US Fed kept rates unchanged in their recent FOMC meeting, reaffirming their accommodative stance in this recovery cycle. The Fed does not expect inflation to persist for an extended period, though it may see some upward pressure in the short-term. The main concern for markets is the tapering of the Quantitative Easing programme in place, which both the ECB and the Fed have pushed back against, thus reducing risk of excessive rise in yields. We expect the gradual climb in yields to be positive for markets, given the prospects of a higher growth environment. Meanwhile, earnings season continues with technology and banking stocks leading way in terms of results. Banks are enjoying higher trading fees and lower provision costs as the economy gradually regains its footing.

On the domestic front, the local market treaded cautiously with the benchmark KLCI inching 1.8% higher as rising COVID-19 cases sparked fears of another movement control order ("MCO"). Speculation was in the air that MCO 3.0 would be imposed soon to contain daily infections. Though, this has not been confirmed yet. The government has kicked-off Phase 2 of the national immunisation programme where the vaccine will be administered to the elderly, chronically ill and people with disabilities. There was also overwhelming response to the AstraZeneca vaccine registration process with all 268,000 slots taken up in about three hours. The ongoing progress of the global vaccination rollout will be instrumental in nursing a recovery. Despite anecdotal news of possible side-effects which is rare and efficacy rates, all COVID-19 vaccines have recorded success in preventing severe diseases and reducing hospitalisation rates.

Investment Risks

All investments carry risks. Policy Owners must be prepared to accept certain degree of risk associated with this Investment. The following are the non-exhaustive list of risks associated to this fund.

1. Market Risk

Market risk stems from the fact that there are other economy-wide perils, which threaten all businesses. It is mainly caused by uncertainties in the economy, political and social environment.

2. Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the fund invested cannot be readily sold and converted into cash. This may arise when the trading volume is low and/or where there is a lack of demand for the security.

3. Country Risk

The foreign investment of a fund may be affected by the political & economic conditions of the country which the investments are made.

4. Currency Risk

This risk is associated with investments that are denominated in foreign currencies. Fluctuation in foreign exchange rates will have an impact on the value of the funds.

5. Concentration Risk

This risk is associated with a feeder fund whereby the investments of such fund are not diversified. A feeder fund invests mainly into another collective investment scheme.

Risk Management

The company has in place its Authorized Investment Framework which forms part of the Risk Management process. The authority framework covers the nature and scope of the investment authority that is exercisable by various parties in managing the Company's investments. The potential investment risks that are taken into consideration in managing the fund include economic conditions, liquidity, qualitative and quantitative aspects of the securities. The investment manager(s) have put in place the following controls to reduce the risks through:

- having a flexible tactical asset allocation
- investing in a wide range of companies across different sectors
- setting prudent investment limits on various exposures
- taking into account the liquidity factor in selecting securities
- engaging in the hedging of foreign currency exposure where appropriate

Basis of Unit Valuation

- The assets of every fund are to be valued to determine the value at which units of a particular fund can be liquidated or purchased for investment purposes.

HLA Secure Fund (HLASF)

2. The unit price of a unit of a fund shall be determined by the Company but in any event shall not be less than the value of fund of the relevant fund (as defined below), divided by the number of units of the given fund in issue on the business day before the valuation date, and the result adjusted to the nearest one hundredth of a cent.
3. The maximum value of any asset of any fund shall not exceed the following price:
 - a) The last transacted market price at which those assets could be purchased or sold on the business day before the valuation date; or
 - b) In the case of securities for which market values are not readily available, the price at which, in our Investment Manager's opinion, the asset may have been purchased on the business day before the valuation date;
 plus any expenses which would have been incurred in its acquisition.
4. To ensure fair treatment to all unit holders, the cost of acquiring and disposing of assets is recouped by making a transaction cost adjustment to the net asset value per unit.

Exceptional Circumstances

The Company reserves the right to defer the payment of benefits (other than death benefit) under this Policy for a period not exceeding six (6) months from the date the payment would have been normally effected if not for intervening events such as temporary closure of any Stock Exchange in which the fund is invested which the Company, in its discretion, may consider exceptional.
