

HLA Secure Fund (HLASF)

Sep 2018

Fund Features

1. Investment Objective

To provide investors with steady and consistent return over a long-term investment horizon by investing into local and global fixed income securities and equities.

2. Investment Strategy & Approach

The strategy is to provide investors an affordable access into a diversified investment portfolio with a mixture of equities and fixed income instrument. The fund will invest primarily in fixed income instruments such as bonds, money market instruments, repo and deposits with financial institutions that provide regular income as well as in high dividend yield stocks to enhance the fund's returns. The asset allocation decision between fixed income instruments and equity is decided after considering the fixed income and equity market outlook over the medium to long-term horizon. Initially the fund will invest by feeding into Affin Hwang Select Income Fund ("Target Fund"), with the option to increase the number of funds or replace Affin Hwang Select Income Fund with other fund(s) in future.

3. Asset Allocation

The fund shall invest a minimum 70% of the NAV in Fixed Income Instruments and maximum 30% of NAV in equities.

4. Target Market

The fund is suitable for investors who are relatively conservative and wish to have a steady and stable return that meets their retirement needs.

Market Review, Outlook & Strategy relevant to Target Fund

Markets were mixed in September as a more positive outcome than market expectation on tariff rates were countered by political and financial uncertainties across Europe and Asia. In a widely anticipated move, the US Fed announced another 25 basis point rate hike following the FOMC meeting, bringing the US benchmark rate to 2.00-2.25%. Beijing unveiled stimulus measures to cut average tariff rates on imports from its other trading partners in an attempt to cushion the blow from its trade conflict with the US. Sentiment soured in China's property sector which saw property sales cooling, while Indian equities sold-off following shocking defaults by a quasi-government entity. 10-Year US Treasury Yield breached the 3.00% level and ended the month at 3.06% as investors seemingly shrugged off potential risks on global trade. Asian credits had a weak showing in September amidst heavy supplies, with Bloomberg Barclays Asia USD Investment Grade Bond Index declining by 0.86%. Moving across asset classes, equity markets were relatively mixed in September, with MSCI AC Asia (ex-Japan) Index down by 1.61% in the month. Malaysian bond space has stayed largely resilient albeit the soft patch witnessed in early September, as a stable Ringgit have translated to better support for local bond market in the month of September.

We expect markets to stay volatile as binary outcomes concerning trade and diverging economic strength with a tightening rate cycle embarked by the US Federal Reserve and broad dollar strength that will continue put pressure on Emerging Markets. Treasury yields would likely be capped from rising further in the longer-term if the US-China dispute continues to spiral, as we may see investors reallocate back to safe haven instruments. Markets will be looking for cues on the US Fed's outlook for 2019, and if they will stick to their rate hike cycle amidst ongoing trade escalation that could potentially derail growth. We believe that most managers and investors are waiting for valuations to correct further in the Asian hard currency bond space. In term of portfolio action, we are beginning to nibble back into markets, particularly within the government bond space, while looking to gradually trim down domestic corporate bonds as valuations in the space lean higher. Our cautious stance still remains with a clear emphasis for IG names, with short portfolio duration between 3 to 4 years. For the equities portion, we have pared down exposure with China's property space and almost completely exited our position in India. We are continuing to add exposure in oil and gas on the back of rally in crude oil price

Investment Risks

All investments carry risks. Policy Owners must be prepared to accept certain degree of risk associated with this Investment. The following are the non-exhaustive list of risks associated to this fund.

1. Market Risk

Market risk stems from the fact that there are other economy-wide perils, which threaten all businesses. It is mainly caused by uncertainties in the economy, political and social environment.

2. Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the fund invested cannot be readily sold and converted into cash. This may arise when the trading volume is low and/or where there is a lack of demand for the security.

3. Country Risk

The foreign investment of a fund may be affected by the political & economic conditions of the country which the investments are made.

4. Currency Risk

This risk is associated with investments that are denominated in foreign currencies. Fluctuation in foreign exchange rates will have an impact on the value of the funds.

5. Concentration Risk

This risk is associated with a feeder fund whereby the investments of such fund are not diversified. A feeder fund invests mainly into another collective investment scheme.

Risk Management

The Company has in place its Authorized Investment Framework which forms part of the Risk Management process. The authority framework will cover the nature and scope of the investment authority that is exercisable by various parties in managing the Company's investments. Besides this, sensitivity and stress testing is conducted to inform the Company's management the profit & loss profiles of their investments under different pre-defined risk scenarios and the necessary action to be taken if the potential losses exceed the Company's risk tolerance level.

Basis of Unit Valuation

- The assets of every fund are to be valued to determine the value at which units of a particular fund can be liquidated or purchased for investment purposes.
- The unit price of a unit of a fund shall be determined by the Company but in any event shall not be less than the value of fund of the relevant fund (as defined below), divided by the number of units of the given fund in issue on the business day before the valuation date, and the result adjusted to the nearest one hundredth of a cent.
- The maximum value of any asset of any fund shall not exceed the following price:
 - The last transacted market price at which those assets could be purchased or sold on the business day before the valuation date; or
 - In the case of securities for which market values are not readily available, the price at which, in our Investment Manager's opinion, the asset may have been purchased on the business day before the valuation date; plus any expenses which would have been incurred in its acquisition.
- To ensure fair treatment to all unit holders, the cost of acquiring and disposing of assets is recouped by making a transaction cost adjustment to the net asset value per unit.

Exceptional Circumstances

The Company reserves the right to defer the payment of benefits (other than death benefit) under this Policy for a period not exceeding six (6) months from the date the payment would have been normally effected if not for intervening events such as temporary closure of any Stock Exchange in which the fund is invested which the Company, in its discretion, may consider exceptional.
